

The Relationship with Time and Money

We all get exactly the same amount of time each day, how we choose to spend that in focusing on our revenue generating activities is the single most important thing in our business. We must get clear on our revenue generating activities.

After watching this five minute video, I invite you to do this exercise by answering the questions below.

1. Where are you still stuck around money?

2. What are you going to differently to change this?
